

Your Consumer and Communicating with Them

Reflect on the profile you have developed and the methods of communicating that are most effective. Use the profile and the communication strategy to create the conversation you will have with a category manager about who is buying your product and how you will influence them to buy.

